The aim of this project is to change the interface of gpo. It's quite boring to read gpo mails. If the mails were a little more organised than it could look better. These project is aimed to make it happen. Although presently email clients like thunderbird can solve this difficulty but the speciality of this project is that it will be solely made for gpo. So by default best settings will be chosen and automatic filter for present courses will be there.